Partney Charges, Schuler Denies Interest Conflict

The campaign for mayor of Granite City escalated today with Mayor Donald Partney calling a press conference at which he signed a charge against Alderman Paul Schuler, his April 3 rival.

The mayor distributed copies of a complaint in which he alleged "official misconduct" between Aug. 16, 1971, and Dec. 18, 1972. "It's not true," Schuler told the Press-Record later this morning.

Mayor Partney alleged that Schuler "in his official capacity as a member of the Town Board, with intent to obtain a personal advantage for himself, voted on items of bills for a pharmacy in which he had an interest, in excess of his lawful authority."

The mayor alleges that ownership of the Midtown and Vaughn pharmacies is intertwined.

Schuler denies it, saying Vaughn's is operated by Donald Vaughn and that both men are partners in Midtown. The Vaughn pharmacy, has sold drugs to the township. Learning of the material presented today, Schuler said, "It's nothing new. I have federal income tax records and records of the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics and Drugs which show that the previous partnership in Vaughn's was terminated."

Noting the timing, Schuler added, "This is obviously political."

The mayor said this morning his action is not political.

Partney said he is acting "as a citizen" and that "it is unfortunate that he happens to be running against me at the time. I think this is for Schuler's own good, as the matter should be cleared up."

The mayor said he believed the issue justified the action taken by him, although it will be "up to the courts" as to whether the charge can be heard in court and resolved before the election.

Mayor Partney said, "We have called this press release conference to make available to the press and public the facts surrounding official misconduct of Alderman Paul Schuler, which misconduct is the subject of a criminal complaint."

"Today, I am signing a complaint alleging that he has violated the Criminal Code of Illinois Chapter 38, Section 33(B)."

"Schuler was elected Alderman in April 1968 and at such time became a member of the Town Board. The Town Board passes on the bills of the town, including the bills from the General Assistance Fund."

"I noticed with some surprise that on May 1, 1969, Schuler was voting to approve drug bills in the General Assistance Fund from Vaughn's Pharmacy."

"Because Midtown Pharmacy and Vaughn Pharmacy are completely intertwined and Paul Schuler is a partner in Vaughn Pharmacy and Donald Vaughn is a partner in Midtown Pharmacy, this meant that Alderman Schuler was voting to approve his own bills," the mayor contended.

"A Dun and Bradstreet report shows that Vaughn and Schuler are partners."

"On Sept. 1, 1964, Vaughn took in Schuler as a partner in the Vaughn Pharmacy, 1836 Delmar Ave., and they also opened Midtown Pharmacy at 2037 Johnson Road."

"While Schuler denies that he is a partner in Vaughn's Pharmacy, the Dun and Bradstreet report shows that Vaughn and Schuler were partners in Midtown and Vaughn's Pharmacy as late as May 1972."

"What also drew my attention was that prior to Mr. Schuler being on the Town Board the General Assistance Fund bills were divided among 11 pharmacies."

"After Mr. Schuler became a member of the Town Board, the drug bills reflected that a disproportionate amount of the drug bills were going to Vaughn's Pharmacy."

New Pact on Dobrey Route

Right-of-way differences which had delayed groundwork for a Dobrey Slough interm drainage project are being resolved and work on the original plan may begin soon, the Press-Record learned today.

John C. Guillou, chief state waterways engineer, reported last week that a new route for the slough drainage line was being designed because of difficulties in obtaining rights-of-way south of Dobrey Slough and along the south side of Pontoon Road.

During the weekend, representatives of the real estate division of Guillou's department met with landowners along the route and with Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City. They reportedly reached tentative agreement on the right-of-way. They are to meet again tomorrow to finalize the agreement.

Bids are expected to be called Thursday and opened April 17. Guillou said he feels the awarding of the contract can take place April 23 with construction beginning May 9. An Aug. 1 completion date is being sought from bidders.

Guillou said his planners were drafting a new route which would have taken the sewer along the north edge of Pontoon Road rather than south of the roadway.

It was reported a final attempt to secure rights-of-way for the original program was made to avoid the Division of Waterways having to go to the Granite City Council again to seek approval for the use of a small section of city owned sewer under Pontoon Road at Stearns Avenue.

The City Council balked at the first request for approval of the plan but finally gave its approval after Guillou made a concession allowing the city street superintendent to control pumping stations along the route. It was feared additional concessions would be sought by the city for the use of the new section of sewer.

The water level in the Dobrey Slough area was raised by heavy rains last week. Workers of the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District brought additional pumps into the area Thursday.

Bus Shutdown Unless More Funds Received

The Bi-State Development Agency voted Saturday to discontinue its public transportation service—the Bi-State Transit System—on April 1 unless a subsidy of $688,000 is received before that time. Missouri and Illinois state legislative leaders said during the weekend they are confident that more aid can be approved by then.

The Bi-State board of commissioners, meeting in St. Louis Saturday morning, approved the April 1 deadline by a unanimous vote, fixing a firm date for ending bus operations.

The board had warned earlier that the transit service would run out of operating capital by April 1, but until Saturday had not set an official date for discontinuing service.

If service is suspended on that date, board members noted, it will be ten years to the day that Bi-State began operation of the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area transportation system after buying out 15 private transportation firms with $26.5 million in revenue bond proceeds.

The agency defaulted on a $1,008,000 bond principal and interest payment on March 1, the

Route 203 Widening to Resume

Construction work on the improvement of Route 203 from the north city limits of Granite City to Mitchell — delayed more than two months by bad weather — will be resumed as soon as the ground becomes dry enough to permit filling and grading operations, the contracting firm reported Friday.

Harry Rimbey, president of the Calhoun Contracting Corp. of Springfield, which holds the north city limits of Granite City to Mitchell — delayed more than two months by bad weather — will be resumed as soon as the ground becomes dry enough to permit filling and grading operations, the contracting firm reported Friday.

"The bad weather hit us at the early stage of the project when grading, filling and trenching for drainage lines was necessary. With the ground as wet as it has been for the past several months it was impossible for us to proceed."

Rimbey said plans were made for resuming the project last week, but work again was prevented by the 1.34-inch rainfall that hit the Quad-City area on March 6.

"We'll have to wait until the ground dries before we can go ahead," he said.

The contract for reconstruction of Route 203 into a four-lane highway divided by a median for 2.4 miles north of Granite City was awarded to the Calhoun County firm in November on its low $3.7 million bid. Work was begun the latter part of that month, but proceeded only a short time before inclement weather shut down the work.

The project also includes the reconstruction of the intersection of Maryville and Nameoki roads in which the level of Maryville Road will be raised to that of Nameoki Road. Drainage facilities which engineers say will greatly alleviate drainage problems in the area also will be built.

Strike Closes 5 Madison Schools

Injunction proceedings were to be filed in circuit court at Edwardsville this afternoon in a move to halt picketing by striking members of Building Service Employees Union Local 98 at Madison schools.

Five of the Madison school district's six schools were shut down this morning after teachers refused to cross picket lines set up by the striking custodians.

Enough teachers appeared at Louis Baer school to permit operation of six classes there, school authorities said.

Administration officials said the injunction petition was being prepared this morning by Attorney William Kinder. If a temporary injunction is granted, it is hoped that schools will reopen tomorrow, they said.

The strike followed a sudden breakdown in negotiations between the School Board and representatives of the union Friday night at a point when it appeared that a settlement might be near.

Fred Riddle, school superintendent, said progress in negotiations was apparent during the meeting when the board members accepted a union request for two additional holidays, but that the union representatives walked out of the session a short time later because the board would not approve a demand that the custodians union be recognized as the bargaining agent for school district clerks and secretaries.

Riddle said the request that secretaries and clerks become members of the custodians union was presented for the first time in Friday night's meeting, although numerous negotiation sessions have been held in recent months. There are 16 members of the custodians' union. The district hires 12 secretaries and clerks.

The last negotiating session prior to the Friday meeting was held Feb. 28 when most of the time was devoted to a discussion of the district's ability to meet the union's salary requests. Riddle said, noting that the union was told that it would be impossible for the district to meet the union demands.

These include:
Fully paid insurance which would require an additional cost $420 per year for each custodian; a wage increase of 40 cents per hour, an additional cost per custodian of $352 per year.

Venice Youth Pleads Guilty to 2 Charges

An 18-year-old Venice youth was assessed $70 in fines and court costs on two charges Friday afternoon and held under $8,500 in bonds on two other charges after an incident at Venice police headquarters in which he allegedly threatened an officer and two other persons with a gun.

Derome Tyus, 18, of 1202 Market St., was arrested at 3 p.m. Thursday by Venice Police Sgt. Charles Mize who said he talked Tyus into surrendering a .38 caliber pistol which, Mize said, was pointed at himself and two persons with whom Mize was talking.

Tyus was charged with battery, aggravated battery, unlawful use of a weapon and failure to possess a firearms identification card.

Arraigned Friday afternoon, he pleaded guilty to the battery charge and lack of an identification card and was fined $25 and assessed $10 court costs on each charge. He pleaded innocent to the aggravated battery and firearm charge, for which bonds were set at $7,500 and $1,000, respectively.

Sgt. Mize said he was standing at the bottom of steps leading to the police headquarters in the Venice City Hall, talking with Thomas A. Ingram of East St. Louis and the latter's sister, Ira Lee Simpson of Venice, who had reported that a man with a gun was after them.

The officer said he looked up and saw a youth at the top of the steps aiming a revolver at them.

Mize said he asked the youth to put the gun down. Though he complied at first, he later raised the gun on two occasions, aiming it at the officers at the bottom of the stairs, meanwhile arguing with Ingram, the officer related.

According to Mize, he warned Tyus that if he did not put the gun down the police would be compelled to use force. Tyus gave the gun to Mize and was arrested. Police later said the gun was identified as one missing from a Venice home since Dec. 18.

Levee Trustees Approve New Record Budget

St. Clair County levee trustees approved a 1973 operating budget of $1,504,375—up $100,425 over last year's estimated operating costs—in a meeting at East St. Louis Friday. Approval of the budget followed a public hearing on the projected appropriations.

Increases in the budget are due to large amounts of overtime paid for operation of the district's pumping stations and union wage increases, according to Komel Wilson, president of the former East Side levee district.

The budget estimates contained in the appropriation bill project total deficits of $347,922 in the district's four operating accounts, with the bulk of the deficit in the general fund. The budget lists anticipated income of $886,425 in the general fund and estimated expenditures of $1,295,575.

The appropriation bill estimates expenditures or administration at $234,125, up from $206,075; $86,325 for the engineering department, increased from $77,225 last year; $474,050 for the general maintenance department, up from $371,250; and $25,000 for a new "public relations" department, which was not in previous budgets.

The board Friday also agreed to call for bids to overhaul two pumps at the East St. Louis pumping station, one of which has been out of operation six years. The bids will be called on an emergency basis at the end of this week.

James Spanos, acting engineer for the former district, reported to the trustees that all nuts and bolts used in assembling closure structures in the levees are missing. The board authorized a purchase order for the parts, which Spanos said will cost $350 to $400.

Candidates Deny Phone Check in Mayor Race

Mayor Donald Partney and Alderman Paul Schuler, Partney's opponent in the April 3 Granite City municipal election, denied today that either of them is responsible for a "mayor's survey" by telephone in which residents are asked how they intend to vote.

One complainant said she objected to the phone call because the caller did not identify herself or her political connection, but said only that she was conducting a mayor's survey.

MOBILE HOME LOOTED

The mobile home of Gerald Boone, 150 Holiday Mobile Homes Park, was looted of furniture in a burglary reported at 5:40 p.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by forcing a door. Taken were two beds, a couch, a lounge chair, two lamps, two end tables, a kitchen table and four chairs.

HOUSE BURGLARIZED

Assorted tools, a carton of cigarettes, a wrist watch and 10 stereo tapes were stolen in a burglary of the home of Thomas Baker, 4512 Walter Ave., he reported to the Madison County Sheriff's Department at 11:45 p.m. Saturday. The house was unlocked.

SHOPLIFTER CHARGED

A 16-year-old youth, arrested for shoplifting a 3-cent item, at Grant City in Nameoki Village Shopping Center at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, was released a short time later on notice to appear for a hearing.

Sewer Plan to Proceed; U.S. Fund Aid Limited

Plans for construction of collector sanitary sewers to serve residents in the unincorporated areas of Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships will proceed despite notices that federal grants for sewer programs will be limited this year, it was announced Saturday following a meeting of the Four-Township Sewer Committee which is in charge of developing the program.

The township sewer program, sponsored by Madison County, includes an interceptor line to connect with Granite City sewer treatment facilities and sanitary sewerage collector lines serving the three townships.

Edward Juneau, of Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab engineering firm, said plans for the interceptor lines are complete, and that plans for the collector sewers will be completed early this summer.

Members of the committee discussed notices received last week from the Illinois State Environmental Protection Agency that federal funds for sewer work are far less than had been anticipated, but agreed the townships should not delay its work on construction plans.

The committee is headed by Walter Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township, and includes Louis Whittell, supervisor of Nameoki Township; Arthur "Cooper" Moore, supervisor of Venice Township, and Nelson Hagener, supervisor of Granite City Township, all of whom attended Saturday's meeting.

Campaign, Board Meetings in Two Separate Rooms

Backers of Mayor Donald Partney apparently believe Assistant School Supt. Frank Kraus attended a campaign meeting for the rival mayor or candidate, Alderman Paul Schuler, Feb. 6 at Charlie's Restaurant, But Kraus actually was at a monthly dinner of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board in the same building that night, it was learned during the weekend.

Kraus is a member of the Chamber board of directors and had a brief conversation with Schuler after the board meeting had ended. The two groups met in adjoining but separate rooms.

David Partney, a son of Mayor Partney, provided the Press-Record on Thursday afternoon with copies of Portfolios 37 and 38 of Schuler, filed with the city clerk.

Kraus was contacted and said, "I most certainly did circulate two petitions for Mr. Schuler's nomination."

"Mr. Schulerland I have been personal friends for more than 20 years. We went to school together; we played sports together; we belong to the Rotary Club together."

"He asked me, as a personal favor, to circulate nominating petitions. I could not turn him down, and I did not turn him down. I apologize to no one."

"However this has been my sole involvement in his campaign."

Kraus said that as an administrator of the community unit school district he not only avoids direct participation in political campaigns but also would strongly oppose any effort by District Nine toward political entanglement.

Fire Damages Tavern At Pontoon Beach

Fire caused several thousand dollars in damage to the building and contents at the Fort Tavern 4706 Lake Drive, owned by Les Caton, at 3:55 a.m. Friday.

The Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department, which was on the scene about an hour, reported that the probable cause was an electrical defect on the front porch.

RECOVER STOLEN TV

Madison police recovered a stolen color television set along the railroad yards in West Madison at 1:30 a.m. today. Railroad officials said that several television sets had been taken from a southbound train during a trip from Granite City to Venice this morning.

Reading Problems Target of Program

Fifty children with reading problems are being helped at the Reading Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and several others are being assisted in off-campus locations, according to David E. Bear, chairman of the department of elementary education at SIUE.

"But even more significant is the fact that we are training teachers to help many other children with reading problems," Bear said. "We know there are countless children with reading difficulties who will never be brought to the Reading Center."

The Reading Center has a waiting list, and usually an applicant must wait at least one college quarter before a vacancy in the program occurs.

The program has been under way for several years, and Bear believes it could be expanded greatly if additional staff were available. "Our primary concern is in training teachers to help students with reading difficulties," he said. "Bear also expresses the hope that in the future more of the program can be taken to regional learning centers. He estimates that 15 to 20 percent of children in public schools cannot learn to read well in traditional classroom situations."

SIUE Reading Center gives individual attention to the children who are referred to the clinic by teachers or parents. "It's a one-to-one situation," he explained. "Once we accept to child, he gets individual testing and treatment until he is ready to be released. Each child has a unique problem, and an individualized program is established for the child on the basis of a complete diagnosis."

Bear said there are numerous reasons for reading difficulties. "Many things enter into reading besides intelligence," said Bear. "The child may have poor visual discrimination or other neurological or physiological dysfunctions. Perhaps the child comes from a poor cultural background or simply lacks maturity. Whatever the problem, the child needs individual attention before he'll be able to read better."

Bear said that teachers who have not had special training in reading problems often do not understand the need for individual attention to alleviate the difficulties.

"Teachers tend to blame poor reading on laziness, the family or something else. Everything but the real problem is cited," Bear stated.

"Children attended the reading clinic at SIUE four days a week for one hour each day. Each child is under the direct supervision of a graduate student, who in turn is supervised by the administrative staff of the Reading Center."

year; a cost of living increase; vacation of five weeks after 15 years service (now four weeks for 12 years); vacation of four weeks after ten years (now three weeks); and a wage of $3.50 per hour for substitute custodians.

Riddle said no attempt has been made to project the cost of the entire package, but the first two items would cost the district $1,250 for each custodian, or $20,032 for the entire custodial staff of 16 men.

The present wage for substitute custodians is $3 per hour, which was raised recently by board action from $2.50, Riddle said.

The superintendent said the union also was told of the district's financial condition which projects a $50,000 deficit in this year's budget, and that school board members explained that all district personnel would have to be treated on an equal basis. The board has taken the position that terms of an agreement reached with the teachers' union will apply to all personnel, including the custodians.

"The School Board and the teachers, represented by the American Federation of Teachers, are now in negotiation on a new three-year contract that would be retroactive to July 1, 1972."

In notes sent to the teachers and other employees Thursday, Riddle said:

"On Wednesday, March 7, we received a registered letter from the Service Employees International Union Local 98 that will commence strike action against the Madison School District on Monday, March 12."

"I fully understand the position of Unit 12 personnel concerning the strike issue, but I have no alternative other than the deduction of daily wages for personnel who do not work. "I realize that there may be some personnel who contemplate calling in sick and using "sick leave" to avoid the loss of pay. I refer these people to section 24-6 of the School Code."

Following the breakup of Friday night's negotiating session, Riddle issued this statement:

"The Madison Community School District No. 12 Board of Education met with the Service Employees representative on Friday, March 9, to avert a custodians' strike."

"The Board was requested to consider offering the custodians anything of monetary value or paid holidays that could be taken back to the group."

"The Board explained that the school district books were available and open to them for an audit."

"The custodians requested Martin Luther King's birthday and the Friday following Thanksgiving day as holidays. The board concurred on this request."

"At this point, the custodians injected an additional request for the board to approve the custodians as bargaining agents for the Unit 12 secretaries and clerks who have signed membership cards to belong to the Service Employees Union."

"This request was rejected by the Board of Education. "After a brief discussion period, the representatives of the Service Employees Union left the meeting."

Vandals Set 8 Fires In Nameoki Church

Two young boys about 10 or 11 years old, probably marked with white paint on their shoes and clothing, may have been responsible for an attempt to burn down Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, about 4:45 p.m. Friday.

The vandals entered the building by breaking a rear window and set eight fires in different areas of the church.

The blazes were contained and extinguished by firefighters from the Nameoki Fire Station, who were at the scene for 50 minutes.

A fire department spokesman speculated that more damage to the building resulted from quantities of white paint poured by the vandals on the floor in each room, on garments belonging to the minister, the Rev. Richard A. Resser, over choir robes and in other areas.

Police said two young boys were observed throwing rocks in the vicinity of the church Thursday and were warned to leave. The same boys were seen in the area shortly before the fire was reported Friday afternoon, officers learned.

Extension of Sewage Treatment Deadlines Urged by State EPA; U.S. Funds Lacking

Mary Lee Leahy, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, has requested that the state Pollution Control Board declare a one-year extension of the deadline by which most communities must upgrade their sewage treatment facilities.

Mrs. Leahy said the action is necessary because of a lack of anticipated funding of the federal construction grant program for sewage treatment facilities and because of the lack of any reasonable assurance that additional federal funds will be made available on a timely basis.

In addition, Mrs. Leahy said one full year of construction work has been lost to Illinois communities because federal guidelines on which to base the award of federal construction grants have yet to be issued.

Those guidelines were required by the federal water quality act passed into law last October.

"Cities and towns throughout the state are trying to upgrade their sewage treatment plants but are finding it extremely difficult to comply with Pollution Control Board deadlines without federal funding assistance," Mrs. Leahy said.

"I believe it would be unfair to these municipalities to require construction when the monies which have been promised to them from the federal government are not forthcoming," Mrs. Leahy added.

"I am reluctant to take this action because I feel we should be doing everything possible to assure cleaner, healthier rivers and streams for all the people of Illinois," Mrs. Leahy said, "but we must take a reasonable approach to the problem."

The cities had been promised federal assistance to build sewage treatment plants, and if that federal assistance is not forthcoming, certain steps such as this should be taken."

Granite City PRESS-RECORD Page 4 Mon., Mar. 12, 1973

Currently, Illinois Pollution Control Board regulations require that all sewage treatment plants in the state provide advanced treatment of wastes no later than Dec. 31, 1973.

If Mrs. Leahy's request is granted, the date on which advanced treatment would be required in municipally operated plants would be moved to Dec. 31, 1974.

The regulations were passed in 1972, after public hearings, by the Pollution Control Board and after announcement of the anticipated availability of federal funding to assist communities in upgrading their sewage treatment plants.

The federal funding problem faced by Illinois municipalities revolves around the impoundment of federal grant monies, which were to have been used to assist communities in building their sewage treatment systems.

Illinois had anticipated receiving $312 million in federal monies to assist local communities during the current fiscal year, but now will receive only about $125 million.

For fiscal year 1974 — beginning in July — Illinois had anticipated receiving an estimated $375 million, but now will receive an estimated $187 million.

"As a result of the impoundment of federal funds, we estimate that only about 16 of the 632 community projects which have requested federal assistance will be receiving any federal grant funds during this fiscal year," Mrs. Leahy said.

Communities that will be receiving the federal funding have not yet been determined. Those communities will be notified as soon as possible, Mrs. Leahy added.

High Court to Act Today On Levee Spending Ban

The Illinois Supreme Court was scheduled to consider today a petition by St. Clair County levee trustees asking removal of an order by Circuit Judge William Beatty of Madison County which limits spending of the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District to "necessary" functions.

Horace Calvo, Granite City attorney and Democratic state representative who sponsored legislation to split the old levee district along county lines, said today's proceedings will not involve arguments of a hearing, but will be considered by the judges on the records and the petition in the case.

The petition for an "extraordinary writ of prohibition" in an effort to revoke Judge Beatty's order was filed by William Starnes, attorney for the old levee board which continues to operate under a St. Clair County court order that maintains a levee split legislation is invalid.

Judge Beatty's order was given in injunction proceedings filed by Madison County Levee trustees William "Mike" Elms and Russell Robinson to prevent expenditure of district money while the court was determining the validity of the legislation splitting the district.

Although Circuit Judge Robert L. Gagen ruled at Belleville Feb. 6 that the levee split was illegal, Judge Beatty's order limiting the use of district funds remained in effect until a higher court ruling could be obtained on the legality of the levee split.

Ehede and Robinson filed notice of appeal of Judge Gagen's rule on Feb. 27. Calvo said the St. Clair County circuit court has 60 days from the date of the appeal notice to provide a record of the proceedings to the Illinois Supreme Court.

State Plan to Train Firemen May Become Model

Illinois has initiated a program to certify fire fighters which may become the model for the entire country.

The Fire Protection Personnel Standards and Education Commission was created in January 1972 to initiate a training program for all fire service personnel. Carl McCoy was hired by the state last August to serve as executive director.

Many fire departments have had outstanding training programs, according to McCoy, but until establishment of the fire commission programs, there was no way to compare these programs.

The City of Danville was the first community in the state to pass a resolution agreeing to participate in the commission's training program, and recently seven recruits completed the training and became certified.

The commission encourages local governments to participate in establishing training programs for their fire fighters. Those that are interested must pass an ordinance or resolution indicating a desire to participate in the program.

Local governments which pass such ordinances or resolutions must require that before an individual can be regularly employed as a fire fighter, he must have been certified by the commission as having successfully completed an approved training course.

The basic course for certification consists of 200 hours of lecture and drill in 23 subject areas. The basic training must be completed by the trainee within his probationary period or within six months of the date of his initial employment. The local government determines which.

The 23 subject areas developed by joint efforts of the commission's Curriculum and Schools Standards Committee and representatives of 186 fire departments from throughout the state are:

Orientation, fire behavior, extinguisher and agents, small tools and equipment, communications, ropes and knots, breathing equipment, ground ladders, hose, fire streams, water supply, installed fire detection and protection system, forcible entry, ventilation, rescue, salvage and overhaul, fire prevention and inspection, personal safety and hazards, apparatus familiarization, first aid, arson evidence, fire suppression and physical fitness.

When local government agencies pass the resolution electing to participate in the training program, they will be reimbursed 50% of training costs for their fire fighters. The costs include tuition at training schools, salary of trainees while they are in school, and necessary travel expenses and room and board or $500, whichever is less. Revenue sharing is one way a community can pay training expenses for its fire fighters, McCoy said. Priorities are established on need; therefore, volunteer, part-paid and municipal departments have the opportunity to seek funds to improve services.

"At present, Illinois is leading the nation in the development of fire service training programs and the pilot program which is being tested here will serve as a model for the rest of the country if it proves to be successful," McCoy said.

More than 50 cities, towns and villages in Illinois have responded in recent weeks to a mail questionnaire with requests to participate in the commission's programs. Twelve cities have requested that their training center be approved for conducting the prescribed courses, and most respondents indicate that the resolution to participate in the program is in the process of being passed by the responsible governmental agency. Approximately one-third of the fire service personnel in Illinois qualify to participate in the programs until the growing backlog of untrained personnel has been satisfied.

Birthing Concept Topic of Public Meet

Birthing of the Quad-Cities, a newly formed organization opposed to abortion, will hold an open meeting for men and women at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the parish hall at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 1800 St. Clair Ave., it was announced today.

Mrs. Felicia Goeken, executive secretary for the Alton Birthing Chapter, will be the guest speaker.

Members of Birthing offer "person to person" help, a spokesman said, to pregnant women needing moral, emotional or practical support. "Birthing does not function solely as a referral agency, although use is made of the professional service agencies in the area," she added.

Non-professional workers are utilized by the volunteer organization, which states as its principle "the right of every pregnant woman to give birth and the right of every child to be born," the chapter officer said.

Chouteau to Acquire Township Building

A plan for acquisition of a tract of land and a building for storing township equipment, and aid to two volunteer fire departments, will be given priority in use of federal revenue sharing funds received by Chouteau Township, it was decided Thursday night in a meeting of the Town Board.

Walter Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township, said the feasibility of leasing or buying a tract on, which a building would be constructed was considered by the board members. The building would be used to store highway department and other types of equipment owned by the township, and later may be expanded into town hall and recreational facilities, Sparks said.

He added that the township also will give priority to allotments to the volunteer fire departments of South Roxana and Mitchell with which to purchase equipment and expand fire protection.

DRIVER LEAVES SCENE

Youths to Film Prison Drama at GC City Hall

A television production crew will be busy Wednesday evening on the lower level of the city hall building in Granite City, filming "The Valiant," a one-act play written by Middlemass and Hall.

Handing the two Panasonic television cameras will be Sam Bausch and Frank Ferguson. Both are seniors at Granite City High School.

The camera lens will be trained on seven youthful performers who are members of the high school's junior class. The actors include Jim Scharf, Diana Holmes, Mark Stephens, Diane Gonsa, Kevin Baugh, Jennifer Sage and Jeff Black-orby.

Results of this week's "on location" shooting will be edited and presented as the 1973 Junior Class play, an event staged each spring at Granite City High School, which only recently has graduated from a live stage production to a student waiting to be executed. The action takes place in a prison warden's office, King said.

Jaycees to Sell Honey To Aid Dystrophy Fund

March 17 and 18 has been designated "Honey Sunday" and presented as the 1973 Jaycees. On Saturday, the Granite City Jaycees will be selling jars of honey to aid the fight against Muscular Dystrophy. The price of the honey is $1 per jar.

Selling points will be set up in Bellemore Village and Nam-eeki Village Shopping Centers and operated by local Jaycees and their wives.

Muscular Dystrophy is a muscle-debilitating disease which disables its victims, so weakening them that a common cold can kill. Anyone can get MD, though its chief victims are children. It is estimated that 250,000 boys, girls, men and women have the disease.

Unlike mental retardation or heart attacks, MD is a disease that can be conquered wholly and completely. Scientists feel they have solved about 10% of the puzzle of MD. They estimate that in 10 years they'll have the answer.

But, Jaycee officers commented, "If your child were dying or crippled now, would that ease you, take the immense burden off your mind? When with a large increase in financial contributions, a short-cut may knock 5 or 6 years off that goal."

Support the fight against MD. Guy Cooper, local Jaycee project chairman, urged today. Support Honey Sunday and give a dollar for a life.

Sweet Sixteen Red Devils Top Triad 63-58, To Play Marshall on Tuesday

The Venice High School basketball Red Devils won their first class A sectional championship Friday at Vandalia as they outplayed Triad 63-58.

The Devils now compete in the "Sweet Sixteen" super-sectional tournament in Charleston at 8 p.m. Tuesday when they meet Marshall, Bridgeport sectional champs.

If they win Tuesday's super-sectional Venice will then join the elite eight at the University of Illinois Friday and Saturday.

Venice trailed 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, but came alive to outscore the Triad Knights 22-10 for a half-time score of 33-22.

In that important second quarter the Knights connected on four of 15 field goal attempts while the Devils sank nine of 16 shots.

In the third quarter the Knights outpointed the Devils 18-16 but the score stayed in Venice's favor 49-40.

Venice fans were holding their breath in the final period as the Knights outscored them again 18-15 and came within three points with 5:46 minutes left to play. The final five minutes, however, saw Triad hopes dim as they were outpointed 9-2.

Venice hit 28 in 57 attempts from the floor while Triad tagged 28 in 63.

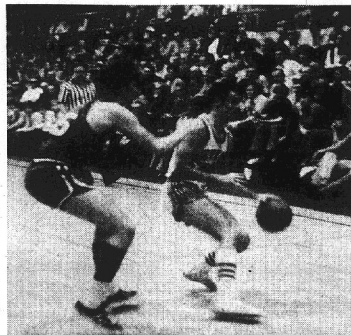

Charity tosses made the game as the Devils were eight for 15 and Triad managed only two in seven attempts. Triad committed 12 personal fouls and Venice six.

Ron Henry led the Devil attack with 23 points followed by Cornelius Wiley with 16, Ray Mosby 11, Dan Severs 10 and Tony Sittion four.

Marshall upset Lawrenceville 98-55, tagging 40 field goals in 65 attempts in the Bridgeport sectional.

"I saw them play against Lawrenceville and they look tough," Venice Coach Bill Ohlendorf said. "They not only shoot well, they play very good defense."

In commenting on the Triad game Ohlendorf related, "We used to play Triad when I was in high school here and it was quite a rivalry. Triad is well coached and certainly was not a pushover as any one seeing the game will agree."

FANCY DRIBBLING and foot work demonstrated at Vandalia Friday as Devil Dan Severs moves around Triad's Tim Lewis. Severs scored 10 points in the championship game.

The improvements will be financed from the men's intercollegiate athletics account.

Trustees authorized the university administration to proceed with bidding, based on specifications approved Friday. The board will award the construction contract if and when acceptable construction bids are received.

Pain, your body's signal to you that something is wrong is not tolerated equally by the sexes. It is far more painful for women than for men. Also more painful for the young and for orientals than for the blacks and whites. A recent experiment in pain tolerance found that sex was the most important factor in determining how well a person can stand pain. Even the oldest men withstood pain better than the youngest women.

Fortunately, pain relief can be equally appreciated by everyone and in our prescription department we regularly stock thousands of medicines whose sole purpose is to alleviate pain.

Trackmen Earn Honors In Pre-Season Debut

Granite City High School trackmen had an excellent showing during a pre-season meet Saturday at Western Illinois University, Macomb.

A total of 108 schools participated in the indoor competition. No team scores were kept.

Warrior Bob Kratz earned first place in pole vault competition, clearing 13 feet, 4 inches. Dave Macios of Granite City was fourth in the event with a vault of 12 feet, 6 inches.

Third place honors were won by Brad Hiles in the shot put with 54 feet, 6 inches, while Warrior Howard Bryant claimed the fourth spots in the long distance running events. He completed the two-mile run in 9 minutes, 46.7 seconds and the mile in 4 minutes, 33.4 seconds.

"I was very surprised at how well we did in this pre-season meet. It is especially surprising considering most of the boys have had very little practice this year," Coach Don Miller said.

The regular track season will open Saturday, March 24, as the Warriors travel to Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, for an indoor meet.

Homicide Verdict By Coroner Jury

A coroner's jury here Friday reached a verdict of homicide as the cause of death of Charles Howland, 30, of 2337 Lincoln Ave.

Howland was shot March 3 at the Wayside Tavern, 2160 Washington Ave. He died at 2:35 a.m. March 4 at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Jack Moad, 5 Fontainebleau Drive, Pontoon Beach, has been charged with voluntary manslaughter in connection with the shooting.

The coroner's jury found that Howland died of a "gunshot wound, with extensive intra-abdominal and left intra-thoracic trauma, with a laceration to the left lung and fracture of six intercostal ribs."

The jury recommended that the case be further investigated by a grand jury.

Bus Shutdown

first such default in Bi-State bond payments.

The Bi-State agency operates four projects that were financed with bond issues—the train system in the Gateway Arch, Bi-State Parks Airport and the Granite City Wharf as well as the transportation system.

Edward J. Delmore Jr., chairman of the Bi-State board, said he is hopeful the subsidy will be received from some source, but that it was necessary for the commissioners to inform the public about the need to end bus service April 1 if the funds are not forthcoming.

Such a shutdown, he said, would create serious consequences, not only in lack of public transportation for the thousands of bus riders who depend solely on the public bus system, but in unemployment problems that would be created for approximately 1,500 bus drivers and other employees.

News Notes

President Richard Nixon reported Saturday he will ask Congress to restore the death penalty for some federal crimes and to impose mandatory life sentences without parole for habitual drug traffic felons. He urged capital punishment as a deterrent for cases of murder over which the federal government has jurisdiction, and for treason and other war-related crimes.

About 75,000 elderly were removed from welfare rolls when Social Security benefits rose 20% in October, it was reported Saturday. This brought the number of aged welfare recipients below the two million mark for the first time since July 1940. Most continue to be eligible for Medicaid and Medicare.

The Cost of Living Council on Friday approved 35 wholesale food price increases and denied a proposed 5.7% rise in the price of potato chips, snacks, crackers and cookies.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley at a Democratic fund dinner Friday night called his ouster from the 1972 convention the "greatest conspiracy in the history of America," blaming liberals bent on "rule or ruin" of the party. In introducing Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, Daley called him the man who in "1978 will lead the nation."

Illinois House Speaker W. Robert Blair said Friday the Republican leadership will support a bill for the stat to reimburse $60 million lost by local governments in the payment of the personal property tax on individuals. Gov. Dan Walker has said reimbursement already is being provided through state revenue sharing.

show that in the four years of 1969 to 1972, total expenditures for drugs by the township relief office was $24,357; of that total, Vaughn's Pharmacy, one of 11 drug stores doing business with the township, garnered over 25% of the total, or $6,186.

The Vaughn's Pharmacy share was greater than Gasco's, Medicare, Hub Drug and Tri-City Drug combined.

"The total amount of expenditures for drugs by the township relief office, operated by Mr. Hagnauer, Paul Schuler's political mentor, jumped from $3,244 a year in 1969 to $6,470 in 1970, the first year that Mr. Schuler was in office. That amount has now risen to $6,948 in 1972.

"I inquired of Leon Scroggins, a former state's attorney and the present city attorney of Granite City, as to whether or not there was a violation by virtue of Mr. Schuler serving on the Town Board and receiving payments from the town bills, and in addition voting as a member of the Town Board to approve payments to the pharmacy.

"Mr. Scroggins researched the question and informed me that in his opinion Schuler had violated the Code.

"Thereafter, in September 1969, he explained the situation to the state's attorney's office of Madison County. On Sept. 19, 1969, Marshall Smith, chief of the Civil Division, wrote to Mr. Schuler pointing out the conflict.

"On Dec. 2, 1969, Mr. Smith wrote to Mr. William Scholer, the township attorney, reminding him of this matter, as per attached copy, on March 10, 1970, Mr. Scholer was advised that the matter would have to be resolved or Mr. Smith would be required to enter a complaint.

"Issues of newspapers in December 1972 bear articles wherein Mr. Schuler denied a partnership in Vaughn's Pharmacy and stated that the partnership was dissolved June 1, 1969, by a letter from Schuler to Vaughn and formally in June 1970.

The articles also stated that Schuler and Vaughn remained partners in Midtown Pharmacy.

"On Dec. 26, 1972, Mr. Scroggins called the matter to the attention of State's Attorney Nicholas Byron, and again on Jan. 8, 1973, the matter was called to the attention of Mr. Byron. No action was taken.

"Mr. Scholer was at that time civil advisor for the board of Supervisors, appointed by Mr. Byron, the same Mr. Scholer who is township attorney for the Township of Granite City.

"Mr. Schuler denied that the signature on the Dun & Bradstreet business information form in regard to Midtown Pharmacy and Vaughn's Pharmacy was his.

"On Feb. 1, 1973, Mr. Scroggins again wrote Mr. Byron and attached a report from William H. Storer, document examiner, which states that the person that signed Dun & Bradstreet's business form in August 1971, was also the writer of Mr. Schuler's signature on 13 forms, committee reports for the City of Granite City, the loyalty oath for his candidacy Dec. 29, 1972, and his statement of candidacy of the same date.

"Several weeks ago, my campaign manager, Mr. Richard Allen, contacted the state's attorney's office in regard to the disposition of this matter.

"He was told by Mr. Byron that this matter should proceed by way of complaint rather than by presenting it to the grand jury. Therefore, today I am signing the complaint.

"Mr. Schuler has indicated

Granite City Steel Co. to Recycle Scrap Metal and Cans from Household Trash

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City Steel Co. has agreed to become one of the major participants in a program for the recycling of household trash from the St. Louis metropolitan area. H.M. "Pete" Love, president of Granite City Steel Co., announced at a press conference in St. Louis Thursday.

Under the program, the steel company will purchase scrap steel and cans from the St. Louis municipal incinerator and will use them to replace a portion of the iron ore normally charged in the two blast furnaces.

Although scrap cans have been used before in the basic oxygen furnace, the program will mark the first "on-going" program of using cans in the blast furnaces," Love said. "This will not only save land on which the cans would have to be buried, but will conserve iron ore, a natural resource," he added.

The Granite City Steel participation is only one step in the household trash recycling project announced Thursday. Union Electric Co. in St. Louis is the other major commercial participant.

After the ferrous metals have been removed from the trash, Union Electric will take remaining shredded trash and will burn 10 to 20 tons per day in power plant boilers to produce electricity. The program to "convert our trash to kilowatts" has been operated at Union Electric on an experimental basis since April 1972.

Expansion of the experiment into a full-fledged pilot program was made possible by $520,000 in grants announced yesterday which will add two new pieces of equipment to the process, making both the burnable trash and the ferrous metals easier to recycle for both participating commercial companies.

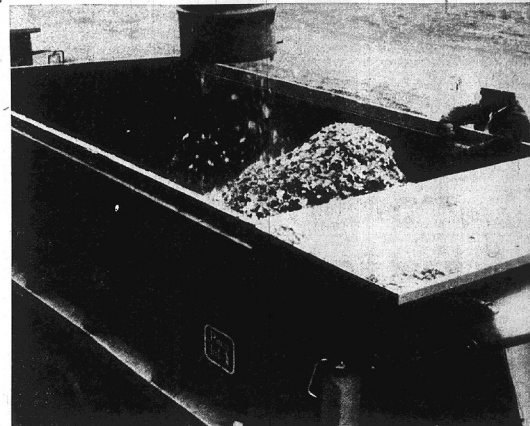

The two new pieces of equipment are an air classifier which will remove the larger non-burnable pieces from the trash and other, a shredder, will further process magnetically separated steel cans to meet the size, density and cleanliness requirements for remelting in the Granite City Co. blast furnaces.

Both will be placed in operation at St. Louis municipal incinerator where the trash is collected, sorted, the metal is shredded for recycling.

The trash is hauled by truck 18 miles to the Union Electric plant and the cans will be brought to Granite City, either by truck or by rail, whichever plan is found to be the most economically feasible.

Under the pilot program, 200 to 300 tons per day of scrap metal and cans will be fed into the blast furnaces by Granite City Steel Co. "We can take more than the tons being provided in the first phase if it is economical," Love said.

"If you could give us 100% of all cans in the St. Louis metropolitan area, we could handle them," he added.

SHREDDED CANS and other metal scrap from refuse are loaded aboard trucks bound for Granite City Steel Co. The company plans to use the shredded metal instead of a portion of iron ore during each blast furnace charge. The cans are separated from the trash by magnets at the St. Louis municipal incinerator.

Love told the Press-Record that the company expects to make less profit on steel produced using the cans than using iron ore, but it has not been determined how much less. He said the cans are called "contaminated scrap" because they contain tin, mercury and other metals which reduce the refractory life of the company's blast furnaces.

"At present our blast furnaces have a life of about four years, then they cost $10 million to $12 million each to replace," Love indicated. The big question is how much will the use of cans instead of iron ore reduce the life of the furnaces, he said.

"As cans go more to tin free, this will open up the outer limits of what we can do, but either way, we will turn these cans into the finest pieces of Tiffany Steel that we make."

"We think we are going to put out more money than we make from the cans to help the environment. Another reason we are involved is the fact that legislation now being considered by many states. We feel we have a better way," Love stated.

Participants in Thursday's news conference, besides Love, were Victor Ziegler of Region VII of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency; Richard E. Paret, assistant vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute; G. Wayne Sutterfield, City of St. Louis refuse commissioner, and J. F. McLaughlin, vice-president of operations for Union Electric Co.

The grants for the new equipment are provided by the EPA, $347,000, the City of St. Louis, $148,000, and the American Iron and Steel Institute, $25,000. St. Louis has agreed to repay a portion of the EPA and AISI funds with revenues generated by the sale of the reclaimed steel cans.

Of the funds provided for the initial phases of the program, the EPA supplied $1,800,000, the city provided $450,000 and Union Electric Co. spent $550,000 on equipment.

Although Mayor A. J. C. Cervantes of St. Louis was unable to attend, a statement by him was presented to those participating in the program. The statement follows:

"This latest action by government and business working together has importance not only to the people of St. Louis, but to Americans everywhere and to people beyond our borders."

"Perhaps as significant as the pioneering approaches is the fact that the solutions we are creating come from the common concerns and efforts of both the public and the private sectors of our society. The City of St. Louis is pleased that these endeavors are making an important contribution in creating a better environment and in conserving scarce resources. We are anxious to share what we are doing and learning—just as we are equally desirous of benefiting from the progress being made by business and government in other parts of the nation in these critical areas that demand the best efforts of everyone."

Kindergarten Registration Dates Set in GC Schools

Registration dates for next fall's kindergarten classes in Granite City schools have been scheduled by R. J. Davis, school superintendent, who urged cooperation of parents in registering their children.

Davis said registration this spring of youngsters who will attend kindergarten classes beginning in September will enable the school district to anticipate more accurately both the space and personnel needed.

Any child who will be 5 years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1972, is eligible to enroll in kindergarten class. Kindergarten classes are half-day sessions and are held at each local elementary school. A birth certificate should be presented at the time of registration and must be presented before actual attendance can begin in the fall.

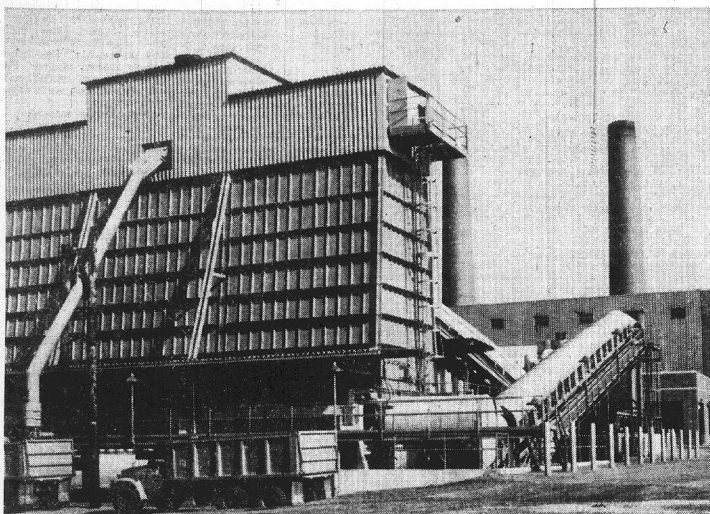

Illinois law provides that no child may enter school for the first time without the following immunizations: tetanus, diphtheria, whooping cough, polio, rubella (3-day measles). Exceptions are made only for religious or medical reasons.

Physical and dental examinations also are required before attendance in kindergarten may begin. These forms are distributed to parents at the time of registration so that appointments for the exams can be arranged during the summer. School nurses will be available at the time of registration to explain health regulations to parents.

Registration days at the various elementary schools are as follows:

Monday, April 9, Nameoki.

TO THE THIRD WARD VOTERS:
I MARSHALL BROOKS do not think it fair to the voters to be left with one man running for reelection as our 3rd ward alderman. Therefore I feel he should be challenged for this position. If you will write my name MARSHALL BROOKS on your ballot as a "WRITE IN" CANDIDATE for your 3rd ward alderman I will serve your needs to the utmost. Being reared in Granite City and being a self employed cabinet maker and carpenter for 27 years in this area I can see much is needed in the 3rd ward area to make it a beautiful and safe neighborhood to live in. My name will not appear on your ballot unless you "WRITE IN" MARSHALL BROOKS as your candidate for 3RD WARD ALDERMAN. I want very much to be your "write in" candidate for 3rd ward alderman. Thank you.

THE FIRST STEP in recycling St. Louis' trash and refuse into new steel and into heat to produce electricity is the St. Louis municipal incinerator which separates metal and burnable trash from non-burnable glass and other material. The burnable trash is loaded aboard trucks in another portion of the plant for use in the boilers at Union Electric Co. while the cans and metal fall down the chute at left and are loaded into trucks for the trip to Granite City Steel Co. In Granite City the cans are charged into the blast furnaces and are made into new steel.

WORKING TOGETHER to help clean up the environment, officials of Granite City Steel Co. and Union Electric Co. joined with government officials Thursday to announce a pilot program for recycling trash from the St. Louis metropolitan area. From left are: H. M. "Pete" Love, president of Granite City Steel Co.; Richard E. Paret, assistant vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute; J. F. McLaughlin, vice-president — power operations, Union Electric Co.; Victor Ziegler, of the Region VII office of the federal Environmental Protection Agency; and G. Wayne Sutterfield, City of St. Louis refuse commissioner.

GC STEEL BLAST FURNACES are a crucial part of a plan to recycle much of the household trash collected in St. Louis. Cans and other metal will be made into new iron in the two company blast furnaces, shown here, and the iron will be made into steel in the company's basic oxygen furnace. Burnable trash from St. Louis will be taken to Union Electric Co. and will be burned in boilers which run equipment to make electricity. The pilot program will be expanded if it proves economically feasible for both Granite City Steel and Union Electric.

Services Expanded In Nameoki Township

In an annual township message to the board, Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsett notes past and proposed expansions of township services and also cites fiscal improvements.

"Through the course of the fiscal year, we have been faced with increased demands from the residents of Nameoki Township to provide increased services and assistance," Whitsett reports.

"The whole concept of government is to provide services collectively that are beyond the individual possibilities.

"We must prepare ourselves to accept these demands and we must keep a constant pressure on our state legislators to change the laws to allow us more authority to accomplish our jobs.

"We must encourage inter-governmental cooperation between the units of local government to better use our financial and human resources.

"Through proper management and investments of surplus funds, we have become one of the wealthiest townships in Madison County, per capita.

"At the close of the fiscal year, we have a surplus of $40,115 in the Town Fund, $72,900 in the Road Fund and $4,250 in the Revenue Sharing Fund, for a total of $117,265 cash on hand.

"We have invested approximately $100,000 per month for interest and received a total of $5,585.88 interest on surplus funds.

"We have, in addition to this, provided all of the services that were always performed in the past and we have purchased new equipment valued at $25,650 for the Highway Department and a new mosquito abatement sprayer truck for $500.

"We have constructed a new equipment garage with space for ten pieces of equipment, and built a holding pen for animals in cooperation with the Madison County Rabies Control valued at $5,500.

"Nameoki Township will be the focal point of much activity in the coming year with the announcement that a federal and state grants will be coming for the four-township sewer plan in a matter of a few weeks.

Steel Pollution Fighter Is Added To Control Board

Gov. Dan Walker on Friday named Roger G. Seaman, a longtime anti-pollution attorney and former assistant corporation counsel for the City of Chicago, as a member of the Illinois Steel Pollution Control Board.

He has spent the past five years aiding in control of water pollution, as administrative assistant to the president of the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Previously, he spent three years as attorney for Chicago's Department of Air Pollution Control, prosecuting more than 2,500 cases without losing one.

In 1963, he was instrumental in amending and upgrading the Chicago air pollution ordinance, bringing the steel industry under its control for the first time. In 1964, the nation's largest steel companies agreed on an historic program of emissions control in Chicago.

He is a member of the legal committee for the National Air Pollution Control Association.

While an attorney for the City of Chicago, he prosecuted the city's first pollution case: Polman's term expires July 1, 1974. Members of the Pollution Control Board are paid $30,000 per year by statute.

Miss Connie Gibbs and James A. Sallee Are Wed

Word of Life Tabernacle, 1200 Meridian Ave., was the scene of the wedding Saturday afternoon of Miss Connie L. Gibbs, a daughter of Mrs. Bonita E. Gibbs, 4806 Kirkpatrick Homes and the late Bracey L. Gibbs, and James Allen Sallee, whose parents are both deceased.

Performing the double ring at two o'clock was the Rev. Henry Crippen, pastor.

Proceeding the bride down the white carpeted aisle was the maid of honor, Miss Cheryl Evans, bridesmaid, Miss Sandra Mae Hall, and the flower girl, Miss Michelle Evans. The latter was escorted by the ring-bearer, Marty Evans.

The attendants were gowned in identical dresses created of lavender chiffon over organza designed in an Empire style. Delicate lace trimmed the necklines, marked the high-rise waist and formed the cuffs of the long sheer sleeves.

Each wore a floral headpiece to hold in place a lavender veil and all carried bouquets of lavender flowers with long streamers.

The bride was attired in a long gown fashioned of imported Chantilly lace featuring long tapered sleeves, ending at the wrists in tiny ruffles, and a square scalloped neckline.

The very full skirt was tiers of Chantilly lace ruffles sweeping backward to form a butterfly bustle and cascading gently into a chapel-length train.

She chose a crown headpiece of flowers laced with pearls to secure a fingertip veil of imported Chantilly lace and she held a bouquet of white carnations centered with a detachable dark blue wristlet corsage.

Before the service, Miss Sherry Barton sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Betty Grote.

Attending the groom at best man was Leroy Gibson. Howard Evans was groomsmen and the ushers included Mark Evans, William Getz and Leo Lindsey.

Miss Cynthia Evans, wearing a gold floral print chiffon frock, registered the bride at a reception held at the Kirkpatrick Homes Recreation Center.

The newly married couple will reside in Granite City. They both attended local schools.

Mrs. Gibbs, mother of the bride, was dressed in a floor-length gown of turquoise blue crepe, with long lace sleeves. The bodice was accented with a bow at the waist and featured a round neckline. Gold accessories complemented her ensemble.

Plan Board Endorses Heating Office Plea

The Granite City Plan Commission has recommended that the City Council approve a request for a change to C-1 commercial zoning from the present R-5 residential zoning at 1947 Cleveland Blvd. for establishment of a heating and contracting office to be operated by Clyde Counts.

The request was made by the Granite City Pythian Temple Association, owners of the building. The structure was damaged extensively by fire and will be repaired by Counts.

He told the commission that only the office and supply functions will be done from the address and that all sheet metal and other fabricating work will be done elsewhere.

The commission also recommended that City Council deny a request by Gwendolyn Lee O'Guin for a change from R-1 residential zoning to R-5 residential at 2219 Richmond Ave., after a petition from residents opposing the change was presented. Also not recommended was a request by Marshall Brooks asking for R-5 zoning at 2124 Lincoln Ave., which presently is R-3.

The City Council will consider the requests and commission recommendations at its next meeting March 19.

School Producing 'Notebook' on Quiet Valley Water Tax

Two artist-composers from the National Center for Experiments in Television participated in the production of an electric "notebook," a videotape containing research data and theoretical and technical information, in the Quiet Valley Building studios of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville last week.

Stephen Beck and Warner Jepson, from the NCET, were joined by film, television, art and music critics from Chicago, St. Louis and Champaign-Urbana, as well as a psychologist, art historian and musicologist, and Paul Kaufman, executive director of NCET, in making the "notebook" on synthesis.

John Moormann Jr., assistant director of the University of California Broadcasting Service, said a press conference was held Thursday in the television studios at SIUE to enable all-media to meet the artist-composers and become acquainted with the new form of television created with audio and video synthesizers working in a new space-visuals.

Another electric notebook will be produced this week, with the participation of three other men associated with the NCET: Willard Rosenquist, "designer of light as a medium" and professor of environmental design at the University of California, Berkeley; William Roray, graphic artist; and Brice Howard, director of television division of the Mass Communications Department at SIUE, under Moormann's direction, was selected last year by the NCET as the producing agency for a series of electric notebooks.

Six were produced cooperatively by NCET and SIUE in the Communications Building studios in December for worldwide distribution. According to Moormann, the SIUE experimental TV unit is the only university group in the nation experimenting and exploring with professional color broadcast hardware.

Marvin Duckler, associate director of NCET, praised the operation of the SIUE experimental TV unit, saying, "The caliber of talent and skill, technically and aesthetically, of the SIUE people is superior."

A continuing relationship with the National Center is contemplated, with the experimental TV unit producing both the electric notebooks and new material.

Moormann explained that the NCET is "a group of artists, technicians and scholars and engaged in developing tools and practices for creative television and studying the image-based experiences in man's individual and social life."

"Formal activities—research, training and the making of videotaped works—are interrelated in this on-going search," Moormann said.

The National Center began in the fall of 1971 to establish formal working and training relationships with students and faculty at several American universities to further the use of television as an "artistic and educational tool."

"Through exchanges of personnel and videotapes, the Center is helping to initiate campus video workshop and assist students to move systematically from basic aesthetic and attitudinal questions to production of finished works," Moormann said.

To share the results of its explorations with as wide a group as possible, the Center began production and distribution of electric notebooks—videotaped manuals containing research data, theoretical and technical information.

The ordinance to relieve Quiet Valley residents of Pontoon Beach from paying a 5% water utility tax is being drawn and will be presented to the Village Board at its next meeting March 22.

The ordinance was requested by Trustee John Cole at the Village Board meeting Thursday night. Cole, a resident of Quiet Valley, said, "It recently came to my attention that only those of us in Quiet Valley are paying the water tax. I feel that is discriminating and I ask that that tax be repealed. If you don't pay it, I don't pay it," Cole said.

He was backed by Dr. Dean Rochester, a trustee, who said off of the trustees apparently were unaware until recently of the tax, paid only by village residents served by the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. The remainder of the village is served by the Pontoon Beach Public Waterworks which does not charge the tax.

The issue first was brought to light Feb. 22 when the Village Improvement Party candidates for election to the board April 17 noted what they called the "unfair tax" and promised, if elected, to have the tax abolished. "David" Moss, the party's candidate for president, said Friday that he wished to thank the board for having abolished the tax.

Last year the water tax brought $581 income to the village administration. The board voted unanimously to have the village attorney prepare an ordinance to repeal Ordinance 121, the water tax ordinance.

A village resident in the audience asked why Chief of Police Rosewell Bennett Jr. advertised in the Press-Record for bids on a new police car instead of Village Clerk Mary Sturdivant.

Mrs. Sturdivant said that although the Village Board approved advertising for bids at the last meeting, she had not authorized Chief Bennett to place the advertisement. The board agreed that a new advertisement for bids would have to be placed by the clerk and bids received from Bennett's advertisement could not be accepted.

The trustees were presented the audit report of village records from 1971, prepared by R. C. Fietz and Co., certified public accountants of Belleville. The report listed no discrepancies in the village records.

A complaint was heard from a village resident concerning tractor-trailers parked on Lakeview Drive in violation of the load limit. Dr. Rochester said the police have been informed of the violation and are investigating.

An offer for the village to purchase a book on revenue sharing for $25 was referred to the village attorney for an opinion whether it would be beneficial.

The regular police department report showed that 91 complaints were answered by officers from Feb. 22 to March 8. Village police cars drove 2,063 miles during the period and 358 officer hours were worked. Eight traffic accidents and eight arrests were reported.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

WE bought another good fish buy, Catfish fillets at 79¢ lb. Here's a good way to put solid protein in your diet and save money. These fillets can be prepared any number of ways; fried, baked, casserole, etc.; any fish recipe that you have will work fine with these fillets. Try them; and put some away in your freezer for future use. The 5 lb. box takes up little room and probably, the way things are going, in thirty days a box will be worth $1.00 more. This kind of investment is better than playing the stock market.

Speaking of investments, it wouldn't hurt to put away some coffee. Current shelf prices are still way behind current market prices. Unless things change, we feel that before the year is out coffee will be much higher.

Lions are in the middle of their pancake brunch ticket sales. We have tickets on sale here at the store.

Vickie Antonopoulos and Walter Haefner Marry

The wedding of Miss Vickie Antonopoulos and Walter Haefner was solemnized Saturday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in East St. Louis, with the Rev. Peter Stanboljev and the Rev. Maurice Morris officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Chris Antonopoulos, 1235 Iowa St., Madison. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haefner, 120 Central St., O'Fallon, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of peau de sole, lavishly appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace, etched with seed pearls.

The fitted bodice was created of lace and featured a high collar and long tapered sleeves, accented with lace motifs. Motifs were repeated on the front of the skirt and enhanced the removable cathedral-length train.

Her bouffant veil was held in place with a lace pill box headpiece encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a cascade of white carnations and Fuji mums, interspersed with pink rosebuds.

Attendants were Misses Christie and Mitzi Antonopoulos, sisters of the bride, Vickie Haefner, the groom's sister, Donna Hobbs, a cousin of the bride and Mrs. Robert Hock. They chose identical gowns designed with lavender polyester crepe bodices and long skirts made of deep purple velvet. White lace defined the high-rise waists, trimmed the scoop necklines and edged the cuffs of the long full sleeves.

Each held a bouquet of lavender and purple miniature carnations festooned with long pink ribbons.

Janet Trawich, the little flower girl, wore a frock similar in style to the adult attendants' dresses and she carried a small bouquet of miniature carnations.

John Huff, a cousin of the groom, attended the bridegroom as best man. Robert Hoch, Gary Tonies, Mike Moses and Steve Ellison served as groomsmen and ushers. Michael Shaheen was the ringbearer.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held in Holy Trinity Hall, Madison, following the service.

Alpha-Omega Players to Perform Sunday

Niedringhaus United Methodist Church will present Mark Twain's wisdom and gentle humor in "The Diary of Adam and Eve," to be performed by the nationally acclaimed Repertory Theatre of America's Alpha-Omega Players on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

The public is invited to view the production. Tickets will be sold at the door, priced at $2 for adults and $1 for children through 18 years. Reservations and additional information may be obtained by calling 877-4553.

Music, humor and nostalgia combine to provide a new perspective on the lives of the first man and the first woman. Adapted from a short story by Mark Twain, with music by the composers of "Fiddler on the Roof," the play shows the beginnings of the age-old struggle between man and woman, as relevant today as it was in the Garden of Eden. Drexel H. Rillery, producer-director of the players reported.

Starring in "Adam and Eve" will be talented young actors—

Bob Smith, a graduate of Cleveland State University, Cleveland, Ohio; Mary Durall, who received a bachelor's degree from George Fox College in Newberg, Ore.; Stephens Reynolds, a former student at Oklahoma City University; and Susan Coleman, a graduate of Angelo State University, Tex.

The Alpha-Omega Players troupe has travelled over 75,000 miles in the last five years, performing in 45 states and Canada, making them the most active touring theater group in the country.

Sacred and secular music will highlight the first spring vocal concert of the Granite City High School choruses in a performance at 8 p.m. Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

Appearing on the program will be members of the Soprano Mixed Chorus, Madrigals and Cantando under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, GCHS church director.

The public is invited to attend and there will be no charge for admission, Mrs. Bright said.

Choral numbers to be presented are "Serve the Lord with Gladness" by George F. Handel; "The Paper Reads by the Brook" by Randall Thompson;

"Ave Maria" by Tomas Luisda Victoria; "How Lovely Are the Messengers" by Mendelssohn; "Blessed Art Thou" by Robert W. Wilkes; "Tantum Ergo" by Jose Maria Becerra; "Wanderer's Song" by Robert Schumann; "Adieu a La Jeunesse," a French folk song.

"The People" by Styne; "The Hands of Time" (Brian's Song) by LeGrand; "Close to You" by Bacharach; "All the Things You Are" by Kern; "No Man Is an Island" by Whitney; "Speak Softly, Love" by Rota; "The 5th Street Bridge Song" by Simon; "Aquarius" by MacDermot; and "Day by Day" by Schwartz.

The combined choruses will conclude the program with a choral selection from "South Pacific." Guitar, piano and tambourine will provide the accompaniment.

Comment and Analysis

March 12, 1973

Drastically New Look of State's 1973 Budget Disturbs

Many But Governor Gives Assurance on Local Programs

Governor Daniel Walker's assurance of a continued state role in the Mississippi River Festival summer concert series is refreshing, particularly since it was given in the same week he presented a budget widely interpreted as ending a number of state programs.

"There's no reason for the Festival to be in jeopardy," the governor commented Thursday afternoon at a press conference at Delta State University.

He also said he plans to proceed with a regional state office building in East St. Louis, to wage a strong fight against pollution, to weed out ineligible public aid recipients and to begin land acquisition for a metropolitan airport at Waterloo-Columbia.

The combination of Gov. Walker's "bare bones budget" announcement and federal aid cutbacks has given hope of state-federal tax relief but also has prompted some to predict phasing out, postponement or curtailment of many existing education, urban and construction activities.

An example is the issue of financial assistance to public schools. The chief executive described education as "the highest priority" and "deserving" the "largest spending increase." He said he wants to shift some of the state's revenue sharing from cities and counties to school systems, and announced he wants to raise state funding of elementary and secondary schools by $134 million to $1,230,000,000 in the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis conceded a need for assistance but said the plan exceeds an acceptable limit: "With millions of dollars of revenue from property taxes being trimmed from schools at the one end of their income, schools cannot manage with the level of funding set out in the governor's proposal. And this does not even take into account the likely prospect of cutbacks in federal revenue for education."

The present distribution of one-twelfth of the state income tax to general purpose government, which needs to be changed, in Gov. Walker's view, to offset an imbalance in the way federal revenue sharing is being allocated. He wants to freeze the state-wide shared revenue at present amount and use the $2.3 million of the projected growth in the state income tax distributive fund for school districts.

Noting that the U.S. Supreme Court has eliminated the personal property tax on individuals as a local government revenue source, he said, "The state has no constitutional obligation to provide replacement to local governments."

With the announced $617 million budget reduction (including about $200 million in eliminated higher education projects, most capital projects other than those already in the pipeline) and the freeze on federal revenue,

Also frozen is the supplemental freeway system, which is to be studied in detail. Much of the bond funds anticipated for freeways may go for maintenance of existing roads, the governor indicated.

Special targets of the new budget are "middle managers" in a number of departments. Initial critical reactions to the budget have included allegations that the state will be handing the reins of the state's major safety, grain inspection, health control and services to children.

Parlous disagreement so far has centered on charges of "bookkeeping" and "padding" the budget. The new appropriation figures should be compared with year-to-year budgeting or accounting levels.

The new budget was bound to be controversial, what with the change in administration, and is even more so due to the governor's sweeping effort to cut and to entirely new tone for Illinois government.

The 1973 budget deliberations and implementation will be an absorbing, important and perhaps historic period in the life of this state.

There is some consolation to almost everything, even a person who has ulcers is able to cut down on his food bill.

'Just a Spoonful of Dark Molasses

Helps the Medicine Go Down ...'

People are increasingly concerned over whether the food they usually eat really provides the nutrients they need.

We'll discuss the topic today with the considerable help of the Family Economics Bureau. The question this poses is how to supplement such intake so that one's overall health is not jeopardized.

The most popular self-prescription for inadequate nutrition—other than swallowing a vitamin capsule with the morning orange juice—is said to be eating and cooking with honey or other natural sweeteners in place of regular table sugar.

It sounds simple. Refined white sugar is almost pure carbohydrate, producing energy, but with no other nutrients.

High in sugar, honey, molasses, brown, maple or raw sugar and get the nutrients that remain after processing these sweeteners.

Unfortunately, it's not quite that easy. A comparison of the nutritional qualities of table sugar with a variety of natural sweeteners shows that substituting one for another does little to enrich the total diet.

Table sugar, honey, molasses, brown, maple or raw sugar all contain varying amounts of two basic ingredients—carbohydrate and water. The kind and amount of carbohydrate in a sweetener determines both its degree of sweetness and healthfulness.

Natural sweeteners are higher in "extra" nutrients than refined white sugar. They contain a proportionately more water and less carbohydrate.

Trace elements—such as potassium, calcium, phosphorus, sodium and iron—give a sweetener its particular flavor, texture and appearance.

Thus, table sugar is pure white sucrose—containing only trace amounts of minerals. Dark molasses, on the opposite end of the scale, is deep brown and syrupy—about half sucrose, 25% water and 25% minerals.

Crystallized from the sugars and starches we eat is our main source of energy for body processes and muscular activity.

A teaspoonful of sugar yields about 16 calories of energy. The typical family gets 50% to 60% of the calories it needs each day from foods containing sugar.

Nutrition authorities agree that the sweetener is efficient and inexpensive source of energy, but many question the value of the "extra" nutrients provided by natural sweeteners.

"Honey and raw sugar do provide some nutrients not contained in refined white sugar," Dr. O. Lee Kline, executive officer of the American Institute of Nutrition, Bethesda, Md., said.

But it is nonsense to put much importance on the small amount of nutrients in these sweeteners.

Every penny a family spends for the added nutrients is a penny wasted, says Dr. Kline, since the nutrients they contain other than carbohydrate are provided much more effectively in other foods.

Americans can purchase a great variety of dry fruit, grains, legumes, vegetables, cereals, poultry, fish and meat products. If a family's diet does not include a proper balance of these foods, the small amounts of nutrients in honey or raw sugar will not help.

Only if a person could switch his or her entire sugar intake to dark molasses—the sweetener found highest in "extra" nutrients but also lowest in carbohydrate—would these nutrients make any difference in the diet.

But such a switch would be impractical. The average American consumes 4.5 ounces (about 25 teaspoons) of sugar a day—just enough to granulated table sugar, of course, but also sugar in soft drinks, candy, jam, preserves and the expanding array of prepared foods.

Few people would be able to stomach such a switch, however. More than half a pint a day—to provide significant amounts of calcium, iron and potassium in their diets anyway.

At the same time, that much molasses would provide the body with 70% less energy than regular table sugar.

Persons needing to restrict their intake of calories find natural sweeteners a better choice. However, most people who eat a balanced diet and who exercise regularly probably won't benefit by switching from regular table sugar.

The Bureau compared table sugar with six other sweeteners according to percentage of carbohydrate and water, number of calories and amount of trace elements in a 10-gram serving—equivalent to about two teaspoonsful of sugar.

TABLE SUGAR. Whether made from sugarcane or sugar beet, whether powdered or granulated, refined white sugar is 80% carbohydrate and 20% water.

It contains small traces of potassium, sodium and iron with no other nutrients. In the diet, it provides more energy than any other form of carbohydrate—4.5 calories per 10-gram serving.

RAW SUGAR. Unlike table sugar, authentic raw sugar is not completely refined, and contains impurities which make it unfit for human consumption.

"Klenraw" sugar marketed by a food store is made to approximate the flavor and texture of raw sugar, but eliminates the impurities.

In composition, it is close to table sugar, containing 97.0% sucrose and 2.9% water. It has "crack" seed pulp or cane fiber and provides 38.0 calories per 10-gram serving.

BROWN SUGAR. Brown sugar is less refined than table sugar and, therefore, has less carbohydrate and fewer calories.

A table sugar substitute popular in England, Barbados sugar, is a brown sugar made from molasses, grown on the West Indies island of Barbados.

Brown sugar is 96.4% sucrose, 2.1% water and 1.5% calories per 10-gram serving. It also contains small quantities of calcium, sodium and phosphorus.

MAPLE SUGAR. This sugar, made from sugar maple, is 90.0% carbohydrate, 8.0% water and yields 34.5 calories per 10-gram serving. Its nutrient content is similar to brown sugar.

HONEY. The oldest sweet known to man, honey is 82.3% carbohydrate and 17.7% water. It is a mixture of simple sugars—fructose and glucose. Sucrose is a chemical combination of glucose and fructose.

Sometimes called more natural than sucrose, these simple sugars are not great special healthful effects.

The body's chemical processes convert sugar to energy regardless of the kind eaten, into energy-carrying blood glucose. The body is trying to get rid of excess energy-storing liver glycogen.

Honey yields 30.4 calories per 10-gram serving—about 20% less than table sugar. In addition to small quantities of minerals, honey contains some protein.

MOLASSES. Light molasses contains 65.0% sucrose and yields 25.5 calories per 10-gram serving.

Dark molasses has 55.0% sucrose and gives 21.3 calories. Both are 34.9% water. Minerals and other nutrients are present in higher quantities in dark molasses than other sweeteners, but still not of great significance to the total diet.

SACCHARIN. An artificial sweetener, saccharin has no nutritive or caloric value.

About 300 times as sweet as table sugar and 10 times as sweet as cyclamate (now banned as potentially damaging to health), saccharin is generally considered safe and passes through the body unchanged.

It has the disadvantage of a bitter aftertaste when used in any appreciable amount, especially when the diet is high in granulated table sugar, of course, but also sugar in soft drinks, candy, jam, preserves and the expanding array of prepared foods.

The point, in summary, is that the "extra" nutrients in sweeteners like raw, brown, maple and honey do not make a difference in the diet.

But the best guide to sweeteners remains one's own taste preference.

GIVE SCHOOL ORCHESTRA IDEA CHANCE TO SUCCEED

To the Editor:

My husband and I would like to express our genuine interest in the fact that the Granite City School District has sent letters to the parents of students in the orchestra program, asking them to give their children considerable thought to discontinuing this program in the district.

We are very much opposed to this plan and would hope that the community could help influence the School Board to reconsider.

Their main reason, it seems, is the low enrollment. We feel these problems could be worked out if given a chance.

Any help you can give the orchestra program will be greatly appreciated.

YOUNG STUDENTS ENJOY STRINGED INSTRUMENTS

To the Editor:

We were disturbed to learn that the school district is contemplating merging the string music program with the band on the junior and senior high level.

We have two small girls who both enjoy the violin. Our oldest girl is a second grader and has been playing violin for four years now.

There are many other small children in Granite City who are doing the same. They are all very interested in string music, which provides a marvelous program for small children.

Our school district should take advantage of what the university is doing and continue the string program here.

CONTINUE STRING MUSIC WITH CHANGED EMPHASIS

To the Editor:

I am responding to the letter received by the Orchestra Parents, dated Feb. 26.

I don't believe that with the emphasis the Granite City School District places on a curriculum with a broad scope, that the School Board would even consider dropping the string program.

The complaint is that there isn't good feeder program—if there is no elementary string program.

I don't see the string program—change the emphasis from secondary to elementary strings.

With the SUE Suzuki program as a feeder for us — 20 Granite City families already have elementary string programs, and we could build a really fantastic elementary program which would even better secondary program than we presently have.

The School Board obviously is considering quality—which is already present in the string program.

Don't abandon elementary program. We will have, in addition to quality, quantity in our Granite City School string program.

SHAME TO HALT SCHOOL ORCHESTRA PROGRAMS

To the Editor:

I am an orchestra student at Granite City High. I have a lot of fun working in orchestra.

I like our string program we have in Granite City, but now we are trying to stop the program in all of the schools.

This means many of the high school students in the orchestra who want to major in music won't have a chance to get a good education.

I am in the Junior Chamber Orchestra. We are really starting to get good, but if they stop the orchestra program by the end of this month we won't have a chance to play for any one.

It is like getting all dressed up and no place to go. I have heard of any of the board who would be sure to stop the program if they didn't have enough students in the program to do anything with.

Let's try to get the school board to start having orchestra in the elementary schools.

As it is, all the students in the orchestra are in the band because they don't know the string program.

We think everyone interested in keeping the program should call, write or go to talk to Supt. B. J. Davis.

COOLIDGE STUDENT

ORCHESTRA ENHANCES INTEREST IN MUSIC

To the Editor:

It was certainly a disappointment to me and my friends when we read that the orchestra program was to be taken over by the band teachers in the district.

"I know the board of education must be careful with the budget, but isn't this going a little far?"

I don't see them cutting down in the athletic department. A matter of fact, it is just the opposite.

The orchestra program is one of the few means of real culture that we have in our school system.

It would be like to see it grow even more, in order to reach the elementary age child, as the band program does at the present time.

If the people concerned with making this change had ever heard of the concept of a band director, I'm sure they would think twice before making the move.

I can't really see why this is happening. The orchestra program is a very important part of the school system.

The band teachers are certainly not going to get the string instruments, because they don't march on a football field.

It might surprise the board to find that I do not have children in the orchestra.

I am just a concerned adult who feels something should be done about the actions of the school board.

PLEDGES NOT MET; TOO MANY CLASHES

To the Editor:

I believe Feb. 22 letter, which pledged to meet the ward goals, hit the nail on the head when it made that point.

I, too, had forgotten the mayor's campaign pledges of 1968, but I can't say that he did too much trying, nor did he do much in achieving them.

State Bureau Prepares Legislation from 'Ideas'

By GARY KOCH
Copley News Service

Springfield — Any high school civics student knows how a bill introduced into the legislature becomes a law. But how does an idea develop into a written piece of legislation?

The answer to this question can be found in the office of the Legislative Reference Bureau. According to Loren M. Bobbitt, executive secretary for the LRB, a legislator comes into their office with an idea and in "five minutes to six months time," the LRB will have produced a bill from it.

Thirteen lawyers are the draftsmen for the LRB that put bills together. Their job consists of writing a bill and in most cases rewriting it, making sure it is worded correctly and is grammatically sound. That the bill is constitutional, and putting it together in such a way that it will be most beneficial to the people of the state.

The draftsmen often call in outside experts in the field to which a bill pertains, to advise them, and help them write the specifications.

Bobbitt pointed out that only about 5% of the bills they work on are given to them at a stage beyond the idea stage. Generally they are given an idea and must take it from there.

"Regulating dog licensing, for example," Bobbitt explained, "consists of our adding restrictions, violations, penalties, qualifications, and providing for the due process of law. A simple idea can become a complex subject, it must be completely workable. The constitutional rights of the people must be protected."

To turn an idea into a statute also requires much research. Bobbitt gave as an example 18-year-old voting.

"People believe all things should be set at 18. We had to research and find in law the minimum and maximum age requirements. There is no reason why at 18 certain privileges should be allowed or restricted."

"Thinking, for example, is not in with voting, yet some people believe the drinking age should be lowered to 18. It becomes a judgment factor for the legislators."

Legislators bring bills or ideas into the office of the LRB sometimes to get technicalities worked out, but in most cases they come in "wanting a bill to do such and such."

In the past, this amounted to new legislation, amendments, or prescriptive drugs, medical supplies, and common household medical remedies for human consumption from each tax.

"In the past, this bill would have been four bills," Bobbitt explained. "One bill may now amend any number of present laws. This makes longer and more complicated bills, but also reduces the number of bills."

The 1973 Revisory, Bobbitt pointed out, combines and restates 400 multiple forms of sections amended two or more times by the 77th General Assembly.

The advantages of this new system favor the state legislators. It reduces their amount of paper work, and also saves them much needed time.

$83,685 Budget Proposed For Tricentennial Event

A proposed budget of $83,685 for the Illinois Joliet-Marquette Tricentennial Commission will be submitted Wednesday to the Senate Appropriation Committee in Springfield, according to George Arnold, chairman of the commission.

Arnold is an associate professor with the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. He was appointed in October to head Illinois participation in the nine-state plans to commemorate the historic voyage of the famous explorers.

Arnold, who is being assisted in the planning by Eleanor Ellis, a member of the CURES staff, said Illinois is being asked to pay 40% of the cost of the reenactment of the Joliet-Marquette voyage, scheduled to begin May 17. Other states involved are Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Louisiana, but nearly half of the voyage centers in or around the boundaries of Illinois.

GEORGE ARNOLD

It was nearly 300 years ago that seven Frenchmen set out on a journey down the unexplored Mississippi River, launching the exploration and development of the heartland of America, according to a historical sketch prepared by the Tricentennial Commission. The expedition, which began May 17, 1673, at St. Ignace, Mich., was led by Louis Joliet and Father Jacques Marquette, a Jesuit missionary. They were accompanied by five "voyageurs" or canoeists.

The re-enactment is expected to take about four months, with the crew going down the Mississippi River to the mouth of the Arkansas River and back up to Green Bay, Wis., via the Illinois River and Lake Michigan. The modern-day expedition will be led by Reid Lewis (Joliet) and the Rev. Charles McEnery (Marquette). The crew will include Dean Campbell of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Most of the states are planning special events within their borders to commemorate the voyage, according to Arnold. He expressed the hope that several events can be arranged in the area when the voyageurs arrive at Alton on July 2 enroute downstream. They'll stop at Lewis and Clark State Park at the mouth of the Missouri River on July 3 and spend July 4 at the St. Louis riverfront.

Boy Scout Pancakes To Buy Campsite

You can eat all the pancakes you want and do the Boy Scouts a good deed at the same time.

The Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, will sponsor an "all-you-can-eat" pancake and sausage meal from 7 a.m. until 2 p.m. on March 25 at the St. Elizabeth School cafeteria, Pontoon and Johnson roads.

The event is planned to raise money for a new troop campsite at Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo.

"The additional campsite is needed for two reasons," Mike Birbrey of Venice, lodge chief, said.

"This summer will attract the largest attendance in the 20-year history of the camp and from an ecology point of view we need to let a couple of sites stand idle a year or two and give the ground a rest and an opportunity to recycle."

Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children and may be obtained from any troop member of the Boy Scout Service Center, 1338a Niedringhaus Ave.

Buddhist Monk is State's Model Cities Specialist

Copley News Service
Springfield—If you wanted to find a Buddhist monk at the Illinois Capitol, you'd look in the nearest temple, right?

Wrong.

You'd better look in the Governor's Office of Human Resources for that's where you'd find Bhikkhu T. Mahinda, one of the only four Theravada Buddhist monks in the United States. The other three are all at a mission temple in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Mahinda is in the governor's office of human resources because he is—what else would you expect?—a model cities specialist.

Abrown-eyed, brown-skinned, brown-haired man dressed in an orange jacket and a long, golden yellow skirt-like garment, he makes what is apparently a habitual gesture, thumb or first finger curving together to nearly meet in a circle, as he explains the mission temple is doing well, but not as well as it could be because the three monks there don't yet know this country as well as he does.

"You must understand how people think, what they mean by certain words, before you can really communicate an idea to them," he says.

"A missionary going to my home, Ceylon, would not be able to really explain Christianity to people there because they would understand something different from what he meant from certain words he would use."

Mahinda has been a monk for 20 years, since he took his junior ordination at the age of 13, starting seven years in a monastery. Senior ordination is conferred at 20. He has been in this country for about six and a half years, and finds that he has to modify his code somewhat to adjust to U.S. standards.

But not much.

"Buddha said that rules are made for man, not man for the rules. So if I must change something, I change."

Like dietary regulations. At home, he would eat nothing at

MRS. GEGGUS HOSTESS TO FRIENDSHIP CLUB

Mrs. Joy Geggus, 2560 State St., was hostess last week to the Friendship Class of Suburban Baptist Church. The class leader, Mrs. Hildred Lewis, led prayer and Mrs. Audrey Kitchen gave the devotion, "The Lions and the Lambs."

Picture taken from the Psalms was read by Mrs. Anita Harley. Plans were completed to meet with Mrs. Wanda Lyster, 1712 Moro Ave., April 2. The hostess served refreshments to ten members.

His job includes planning, giving technical assistance, program development and coordination and related activities, particularly in model cities programs.

Eventually, he says, he would like to go back to Ceylon and do community development work there, where there presently are a number of programs but a lack of effective organization.

Actual model cities programs, his specialty, wouldn't be of much benefit in Ceylon, he says, because of the difference in community life.

In America, the population breaks into "societies" where people scarcely know each other, compared to Ceylon where there are true "communities" of families who have lived in the same community for generations, and are interrelated.

There, he says, he has a niche into which he instantly fits again when he returns, even after a long absence.

"When I went back last December, people all knew right away that I had come back, and came to visit from morning to night," he recalls.

He has worked in the Philippines and Jamaica among other places as a community development consultant and finds people get used to his clothing style, but he has to explain his religious orientation frequently.

So you'd like to save water and money.

All of us take hot water for granted. And we use a lot of it. But both the water and the energy to heat it are resources that need to be conserved.

Here are some suggestions that can help you continue to enjoy the good things that hot water means and at the same time do a little conservation for the good of all of us.

Leaky faucets waste your money and everybody's water. Think of it this way: one hundred leaky faucets can waste enough water in a month to supply a typical family for a year.

Please, stop that drip. Using your washing machine and dishwasher for less-than-full loads also consumes energy and water needlessly. With a little planning, you'd save on both with fewer loads at full capacity.

To some folks, soaking in an overflowing tub with the hot water tap running is a luxury. Today it's a luxury none of us should afford.

A water heater that's old or too small for your needs is also wasteful because it's working too hard and using too much energy. Build-up of lime deposits over the years cuts your water heater's efficiency. An inefficient heater should be replaced.

It's our business to provide energy. But it's everybody's business to use it wisely.

SIUE Reading Center

Helping 50 Children

Area high school junior interested in Southern Illinois University Edwardsville's early admission plan, have until Thursday to apply, according to William C. Slatery, acting coordinator of the program.

The early admission plan for outstanding high school students was initiated in the summer quarter of 1972. At that time 15 students were admitted. This summer the program is being expanded to include 50 students. Within the next five years the program may be expanded to a maximum of 100 students.

To qualify, students must be recommended by their high schools and must have parental approval. The high school from which the student would normally graduate must arrange to grant a high school diploma in the event that the student decides not to return to high school for the senior year.

Students admitted early will have the option of returning for the senior year in high school or remaining at the University, provided they maintain a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Those who fail to maintain the average during the summer session must complete high school diploma requirements before continuing university work. College credits earned by students who return to high school will count toward SIU graduation requirements when the students re-enroll.

High school students interested in further information about the program may call the SIUE office of the Dean's College, telephone 662-3770, or write the Dean's College, Box 78, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

Speed Reading Course

Offered at Campus

A non-credit course in speed reading will be offered during the spring quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Students already enrolled in the university can obtain a class card during registration March 22 or during the period of program changes beginning March 26. Persons not now enrolled for the spring quarter should contact Mrs. Carol Van Hous at the General Studies Division prior to March 22.

Three speed reading courses will be offered, from 8:30 p.m. to 10:20 p.m. on Mondays and Tuesdays and from 8:30 p.m. to 7:20 p.m. on Wednesdays.

GC Business Women's Club Voted Top Honors as 'Club of the Year'

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club has been chosen "Club of the Year" from among 13 regional business women's organizations, it was announced Sunday at the spring conference of District 14, Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs (IFBPWC).
Additionally, Mrs. Mary E. Moran, a Granite City learning disabilities teacher, and the local club's nominee as "Young Career Woman of the Year," also achieved first place honors.
She will represent the district at the IFBPWC state convention in April at Peoria, competing against other regional candidates for the state title.
A total of 177 women attended the spring luncheon meeting at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville, represented affiliated BPW clubs from Jerseyville, Belleville, Alton, Collinsville, Carrollton, Cahokia, Marissa, Fairview, Edgemoor, East St. Louis, Edwardsville, O'Fallon and the Bend, Belthalto and Bunker Hill area.
Twenty-nine women attended from the Granite City club.
Outstanding programs, personnel and activities, designed to promote, advance and further educate women in business and the professions were among the criteria used in determining the top rated "Club of the Year."
Mrs. Pauline Weir, Granite
City BPW president, accepted the award.

In a "Speak-Out" contest,
Mrs. Rosemary Basden of the local club, earned runner-up honors to Mrs. June Hove of Collinsville.
The advancement of women in leadership and government was the subject of the afternoon's principal speaker, Mrs.
Celeste Stieh of Belleville, Republican state representative from the 5th district.
Mrs. Stieh, a freshman legislator, commented that although 51% of Illinois' population are women, they have only 9% representation in the Illinois General Assembly, with a total of 11 women among the 236 state legislators. She urged the business women to "get more involved" in all branches of government.
Mrs. Sylvia Wright of the local BPW club, chairman of a nominating committee consisting of delegates from each club, introduced the

New Guidelines for SIU Create 'System Council'

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees Friday adopted a set of guidelines to be used for the operation of the two university presidents and the chief of board staff.

The guidelines were described by SIU Board Chairman Ivan
A. Elliott Jr. as "an extension of the reorganization of the University which began more than two years ago, proceeded when we established the University at Edwardsville as free-standing, and established the Board Staff Office."

The guidelines create an SIU System Council similar to the University Administrative Council which operated the system following the resignation of Dr.
Delyte W. Morris as SIU President in August 1970.

"Coordination of the two Universities went relatively well during the trying period when we decentralized the University administration and made SIUE free-standing," Elliott reported.
"We have simply re-established a council to coordinate University and Board activities."

Chairmanship of the System Council will alternate between the two university presidents.
Permanent secretary of the Council will be the chief of board staff.

Presidents David R. Derge of SIUC and John S. Rendleman of SIUE, along with Chief of Board Staff James M. Brown will continue to report directly to the Board of Trustees.

The guidelines also decentralize the functions of the University System's internal audit operations.

of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.
Mrs. Minnie Koster of Jerseyville, retiring district chairman, introduced the guests and conducted the business segment. Cahokia BPW members served as hostesses at the luncheon.

Entertainment was provided by the Greek dancers of the Greek Orthodox Church in St.
Louis, a group of 12 young people who performed to their own accompaniment on a piano and guitars.

the auto of Earl Warren, 1639
